Chalkboard wines serve as a canvas to educate and inspire enjoyment of wines from around the world. When you are able to travel the world and experience wines grown from many other unique regions, Chalkboard allows you to taste the terrior, soil and vast exposure each wine experiences from grape to glass.

TASTING NOTES

Savor the enticing aromas of ripe blueberries and dark plums, enhanced with hints of smooth vanilla as each sip reveals layers of rich complexity.

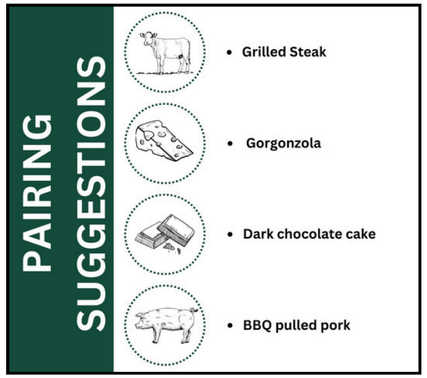

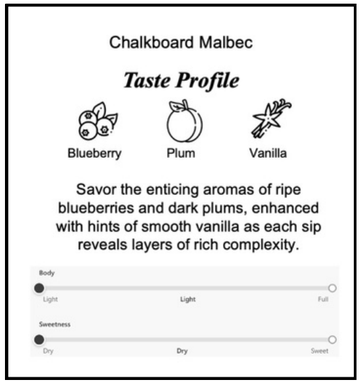

JOHNSON SCUTT, WINEMAKER

Part winemaker, part adventurer - Johnson Scutt has made wine from over 11 different countries, including Spain, Italy, Hungary and Cyprus. Originally from New Zealand, Scutt grew up on his family's winemaking estate, which ignited his passion to pursue wine. He earned his Wine Science degree and worked for several years in Australia before setting out to travel the world. This adventure included double harvests each year, flying from the southern hemisphere to the northern hemisphere to make wine. Finally, he settled in the UK to work with European wines.

In 2004, he joined WX as the Director of Sourcing, first for Europe and now for the Southern Hemisphere. Scutt is devoted to finding and delivering honest varietal expression for the best value. He currently lives in New Zealand with his wife, kids and two Catalan cats.
